ORDER RECONSIDERING TIME LIMITS FOR ORAL ARGUMENT

The Court has reviewed the stipulation of the parties and the indication of Plaintiffs that they will rely on the written declarations rather than lengthy direct and cross-examination. The Court very much appreciates the cooperation of counsel in streamlining the hearing, and it appears that the hearing should be concluded by Friday afternoon as opposed to carrying over to Monday.

Accordingly, the Court's prior limitations on opening and closing statements are no longer necessary, though the Court knows counsel will use their argument time reasonably and efficiently.

It is so ORDERED.

SIGNED this 13th day of August, 2025.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE
